

CAMDEN NEWS NOTES

** The funeral of Jeremiah Haley, who died as the result of scalds received by a bursting steam pipe, took place yesterday from his home at 1724 Broadway, services being held at the Sacred Heart Church. Interment was made at St. Mary's Cemetery, Gloucester City.

** Death claimed John MacMillin, one of the oldest residents of the Eighth ward, at his home at 1780 Master street. He was a victim of paralysis. He was an officer of Battery B when Captain Eamorr D. French commanded that body.

** Policeman Stanley yesterday morning found a burglar in the act of breaking into the home of H. O. Cliver, 447 Benson street. After leaping several fences the prowler escaped.

** It was stated by a prominent Camden Democrat yesterday that it is more than likely that Governor Wilson will soon relieve the present suspense with reference to handing out the several plums in the way of judgeships and the like. It is believed that they will come as a sort of Christmas present to the fortunate ones.

** Only six applications for County liquor licenses were filed with County Clerk Patterson in Camden yesterday. They included the following: Berlin, Mary L. Fleche; Centre township, Helen Bartman; Delaware township, David Bodine; Waterford township, Mary Robler and Antonio Manzo; Voorhees, Ernest B. Stenbing. Remonstrances must be filed by next Tuesday and Judge Joline will take up the applications the following Friday.
