

CAMDEN'S NEWS BUDGET

News Gathered Here and There in the City
Across the River.

The case of Adolph Butler, of Marlton, against his wife for divorce, which was begun before the vice chancellor on Wednesday, was continued yesterday. The principal witness during the day's session was the defendant, who denied the story told of her flirtation by her sister-in-law before the court on the previous day.

Justice Davis yesterday held Ella Vannote in bail on the charge of assault and battery on Oliver Fennimore. The woman said that the complainant was habitually insulting her and that she had got him by the throat to make him desist.

Gloucester City Council last night increased the license fee from $200 to $300. There are 1,600 voters and eighty saloons in that city, or one saloon to every sixteen voters.

Mrs. John Manning, of Palmyra, who nearly cut her husband's hand 'off' with a hatchet last week while in heated passion, has written a letter to the physicians at the Cooper Hospital asking after her husband's condition, saying she is very much worried about him.

The Sixth Ward Republican Club has elected these officers: President, David C. Vannote; vice president, Eugene B. Roberts; recording secretary, William D. Brown; financial secretary, Joseph B. Ayres; treasurer, Miles Sage.

Squire Cassidy yesterday held Michael Mullin, of Gloucester City, in bail on the charge of assault and battery on his mother and malicious mischief.

The annual inspection of William B. Hatch Post, No. 57, G. A. R., took place last night under the supervision of Department Inspector Joseph Franklin.